“GOD ALWAYS MAKES YOU WAIT BEFORE HE SENDS YOU OUT.”

---

READ

Ephesians 2:10

I have tried to figure out the work God is doing inside of me, and I can't. When I am feeling pushed aside or pushed down, like I'm all by myself — that's when God is doing the greatest work in my heart. His objective is to get me to that place of total dependence on Him. In Ephesians it says that He has prepared us to do good works. And those works were established before the world was made. That means you've got something to do. Nobody else can do it. Only you can accomplish this task that God has designed for you. But you don't just stand up and do it. God always makes you wait before He sends you out. Just because you've seen it and heard it and done it, doesn't make you qualified until you wait on God to do a deeper work in your heart. So, if you feel like you're wasting time spinning your wheels or that nothing's ever going to happen, you're in a perfect place. While you feel that nothing is happening, God is doing the most in your life.

PRAY

Jesus, thank You for doing the necessary work on my heart to make me fit into Your plan. Draw me and lead me to the good work You need my hands and feet to do.
